Ceremonies

We offer symbolic rituals as a meaningful way to personalise your wedding, vow renewal, or naming ceremony—rituals that feel truly personal—honouring your values, heritage, and story. Whether you're drawn to ancient traditions like handfasting, meaningful gestures like a sand ceremony, or faith-based rituals from your cultural background, these elements can add depth and emotional resonance to your day. Many couples discover these options after reading about our inclusive approach on the About page, and choose to blend symbolic or religious touches into their ceremony in a way that feels authentic and personal.

Symbolic rituals have appeared in ceremonies for centuries, often rooted in ancient traditions and adapted to suit modern celebrations.

Two of the most beautiful examples are the Blessing of the Hands and the Handfasting Ceremony. In a Handfasting, the couple's hands are gently tied together with braid, ribbon, or fabric—symbolising unity—before exchanging vows and rings in a deeply personal, non-religious ceremony.
